A LIFE AT SEA: WORKING ON CRUISE SHIPS

Have you ever wondered why crew members onboard have traveled from all over the world to come work on a cruise ship? What is the appeal? Working for a cruise line offers numerous rewards, but the most common reasons for doing it are: The opportunity to save money, especially as basic expenses are taken care of by the cruise line. The ability to travel around the world in style (while getting paid for it!). The pride felt for being part of such a prestigious cruise line. And then, of course, there's you - our guests. There are few things more rewarding to service personnel than meeting and exceeding guests' expectations. Everybody has different reasons for choosing to work at sea... why not go ahead and ask any crew member onboard why they do it? You're sure to get all sorts of interesting responses.
